QUESTION: What do Muslims believe about the Qur'aan? Is it different from what the Christians and Jews believe about their books?

ANSWER:

Muslims believe that the Qur'aan is the Speech of Allaah.

It is the miracle that was given to Muhammad (may Allaah's peace and blessings be upon him).

He was illiterate, unable to read and write. Yet the Qur'aan which he brought contains Arabic which has never been surpassed in its structure and beauty.

This inimitability – which means that it can never be imitated or bettered by anyone – is its miracle.

This is something repeatedly stated by Allaah in the Qur'aan:

So let them bring a recital like it (i.e. like the Qur'aan) if they are truthful!

[Soorah Toor (the 52nd Soorah) ayah 34]

Or they say "He (i.e. Muhammad) forged it!"

Say: So bring ten forged chapters like it then, and call whoever you want to, other than Allaah, to help you, if you are telling the Truth!

[Surah Hood (the 11th Surah) ayah 13]

Sadly, this is something that many of us, who cannot speak Arabic, cannot appreciate. But it something that all Arab speakers know – even the Arab Jews and Christians!

Muslims also believe that the Qur'aan can never be changed or altered.

Indeed, it has never been altered in its 1400 years.

The Qur'aan 1

Muslims believe that the previous Prophets (may Allaah's peace and blessings be upon them) were also given scriptures.

But over the course of time, these have been changed, with portions added or taken away or changed.

The Jews and Christians do not deny this. In fact they have different editions of their scriptures available nowadays, with some editions even having had whole paragraphs or sections removed.

For the Muslims, this fact of changing and alteration would imply that these former scriptures contain some error and some truth – with it being impossible to determine what is correct and what is not.

Muslims also believe that the Qur'aan contains information that no one other than Allaah would know, related to affairs of the past and future, but also of aspects of the universe that were not known to Muhammad (may Allaah's peace and blessings be upon him) or to any human at that time.

This is also held as a proof, in the eyes of Muslims, of the miraculous nature of Muhammad (may Allaah's peace and blessings be upon him) and of the divine origin of the Qur'aan.
